The second section of the NRBC Non Pro preliminary round wrapped up yesterday afternoon, and Emma Vanlandingham moved up to the driver's seat position in the overall standings. Vanlandingham rode Diamond Handz, owned by 2Star Investments and bred by Mark Smith, to the top with a 220.5 overall score. Diamond Handz is a 5-year-old gelding whose lifetime earnings are approaching the $31,000 mark.

After Thursday's concluding section of Non Pro preliminaries, the top 30 in the Non Pro Levels 4, 3, 2, and 1 will advance to the clean-slate Finals on Saturday, April 19. Those competitors will be joined by the top 20 in the Prime Time Non Pro and the top 10 in the new Masters Non Pro.

While the prelims will determine who advances to the finals on Saturday, they also will decide the champions of the Non Pro Novice Horse and the APHA Chrome Cash incentive, which will be awarded after the third section.

Riders advancing to the Finals will learn their draw position during the Markel Insurance Non Pro Draw Party, slated for Thursday at 6 p.m. Prior to the Draw Party, the Level and Division leaders will join Announcer Brian Lookabill for the first press conference of 2025. Classic Connection - Suzanne Cooper

Suzanne Cooper is for the first time here at the NRBC. After losing her previous horse in a barn fire last June, Suzanne purchased Late Night Doll, by Late Night Stopper out of a Walla Walla Whiz mare, from Lindsay Cruz last August. The mare came out of Robin Schoeller's program. This is a great first derby to compete at," Suzanne said. "I love the access to the pens - they are big and comfortable. I feel welcomed and comfortable at this show!"

Since partnering with her new mare, Suzanne, who rides with Brandon Brant, has been all in. "She's a really lovely mare. I'm really enjoying my time with her," she said. "She's an honest, big stopper - everything you'd want in a mare. After the fire, and once I had the opportunity to have a nice horse again, I thought, 'Just go for it.'"

Suzanne's daughter showed Late Night Doll at the Congress last fall, and the NRBC will be Suzanne's second show with the mare.

"It's just the way it fell into place," she explained. "My daughter is currently showing in the all-around in Florida, and my youngest son is going to the University of Dayton in Ohio. We're very busy!"

On the side, the family also breeds reiners, with a few of their own horses at home. Living just 15 minutes down the road from the Brants, Suzanne appreciates being close to both her trainer and her horses. She says she tries to make the most of her time with them and her barn family.

DRAWS/RESULTS

Classic Connection - Garrett Lazaro

Around the arenas here at NRBC, you'll see Garrett Lazaro aboard reiners - but in his downtime, you'll find him in the roping pen. Originally from Utah, Lazaro didn't grow up showing horses.

"My mom had a little paint for me. I learned how to ride to some extent, but just backyard riding."

He took a 16-year break from riding, until he was about 19. After suffering an injury that kept him out of the hockey rink, he went looking for another competitive team sport - and found his way back to horses. He picked up a rope and taught himself how swing it before purchasing a horse in the summer of 2020. He then started riding and roping with Jared Fillmore, a PRCA roper.

While reining is his main focus, Lazaro enjoys roping whenever he can. Riding full-time during the week with Jarvis Anderson, he heads down the road after he's done at one barn to put in more hours roping with his step-dad. Though he mainly heels, he can rope both ends. "It's nice to go right from a reining horse straight to a rope horse. A lot of the stuff I teach my younger rope horses is no different than what I'm doing on the reining horses. For the heel side, it's very similar."

Just a few weeks ago, Lazaro competed at the prestigious Bob Feist Invitational, where he and his roping partner split $35,000, bringing his lifetime earnings in the roping pen up to $350,000.

This week and next, he's preparing to show Tonite Tonite, a 2021 palomino stallion, here at the NRBC. His plan is to continue working with reiners with Jarvis Anderson full time, while putting in the time in the roping pen until he is ready to enter the roping futurities as a hobby.

Of course, none of these accomplishments would be possible without great mentors along the way. He thanks Lance Scheffel for taking a chance on him when he wanted to get back into riding, and Jarvis Anderson for his guidance and knowledge while allowing him to pursue multiple disciplines.

And finally, he credits his biggest supporter - his mom.

"My mom was the actual rider in our family. She's the talented one, and to this day, she can still embarrass me on a horse."

Classic Connection - Sarah Rose Jons

Sarah Rose Jons pulls double duty between her reining and ranch horses.

"I love the reining, but I also love the ranch riding because it gives me something else to do."

Competing in both ranch riding and ranch trail, Sarah believes these events give certain horses another opportunity to be competitive. She enjoys the technical aspects of the patterns, especially the transitions, and notes there are a lot of similarities between the two disciplines. In fact, she finds that practicing maneuvers from one can help improve the other. "I try to push them out more in the trot, especially the extended trot, because I feel it helps them lope better through the small slow circles in the reining patterns."

At this year's NRBC, Sarah is showing three Classic horses, plus another horse in the ancillary classes. When asked about her favorite part of the event? "It gets done early at night!"

And if she had to choose only one event to compete in moving forward? "I love the ranch stuff, but it doesn't have the adrenaline rush like the reining does."

The Markel Insurance Non Pro Draw Party Celebrates Classic Finalists

The Markel Insurance Non Pro Draw Party is a longstanding tradition that has spanned over the last 14 years of the NRBC. Sponsored by Markel, the party strives to celebrate the Non Pros who competed in the prelims.

The festivities are limited to none, and all are welcome to join tonight at 6 p.m. at the Sponsor Area in the Ford Arena for food and fun.

In addition to the contestants learning their draw positions for the Saturday finals, this party also provides family and friends the opportunity to cheer on these riders as they gear up for the big event.

NRBC President Tom McCutcheon said, "The Markel Non Pro Finals Draw Party is a time to celebrate our non pros and their achievements, and there is no better partner for that endeavor than Markel."
