Mandy McCutcheon & Dun It For Whiz

Lead Non Pro Prelims

With 144 runs and two full days of competition, the 2024 National Reining Breeders Classic Non Pro preliminary round is nearing completion. In the second section, it was eight-time NRBC Non Pro Champion and NRHA Three Million Dollar Rider and Two Million Dollar Owner Mandy McCutcheon who raised the bar, marking a 221.

McCutcheon piloted Dun It For Whiz, a 2020 gelding who first left his mark on the industry with wins at the 100X Reining Classic and the American Quarter Horse Association Congress. The gelding by Dun It For Whizkey and out of Indians Gunalena already has an impressive lifetime earnings of over $114,000.

Following the third section of the National Reining Breeders Classic Non Pro preliminaries on Thursday, April 18, the top 30 in the Non Pro Levels 4, 3, 2, and 1 will advance to the clean-slate Finals on Saturday, April 20. Those competitors will be joined by the top 20 in the Prime Time Non Pro and the top 10 in the new Masters Non Pro.

This preliminary round also decides the Champion of the $20k Novice Horse Non Pro and the winner of the APHA's Chrome Cash incentive. The awards for these coveted titles will be given in the arena following the final competitor.

Riders advancing to the Finals will learn their draw position during the Markel Insurance Non Pro Draw Party, slated for Thursday at 6 p.m in the Sponsors Reception area.

Classic Connection

Tricia Leone

Reining might be a key component of the western performance horse industry, but Tricia Leone's career in the equine industry actually began in England itself.

"I was a military brat," laughed Leone. "My mother wanted to hang out with the other women and not have a huge babysitting bill, so they decided to put all the kids in riding lessons so they could hang out while we rode around."

Although Leone's parents' military career meant that she moved often enough to make friendships difficult, her connections to horses remained steady, even though the discipline regularly evolved.

"I just rode whatever kind of horses were available wherever we were," said Leone. "A little pony club, a little of the English disciplines, some hunter-jumper, and one summer I exercised race horses."

Upon reaching college, Leone attended her first-ever Quarter Horse Congress as a member of the University of Missouri Horse Judging Team. It was there that she first saw a reining pattern, and in her words, 'it was love at first sight.'

"After college, I found out that Troy Heikes lived only 10 miles down the road from me," said Leone. "So I took some lessons from Troy and bought a two-year-old, then a few years later, another one."

This isn't Leone's first time to attend the National Reining Breeders Classic, but it is her first trip back as a competitor in exactly a quarter century.

"Everything has changed so much in twenty-five years," chuckled Leone, as she gestured at the barn around her. "It makes me happy for the years I spent doing all sorts of different things."

Last year, when Leone knew it was time to get back in the pen, she struggled to find the right horse – until she visited the NRBC, going stall to stall, searching for horses for sale.

She swung a leg over 'Shakira' after finding her at the Trent Harvey Performance Horses stalls, and instantly fell in love with her, just like she had the sport of reining. Although she's affectionately called Kira, the mare is registered as Alpha Queen, a 2019 model by Wimpy Chic and out of Chexanicki. Since partnering at the 2023 NRBC, Leone and Kira have competed at the NRHA Derby and the 100X Reining Classic, along with qualifying for the Non Pro Run For A Million.

"When you're a kid moving around like that, it's so hard, and you don't know how all the pieces could fall into place," said Leone. "But now, looking back from this show, I can see how it all benefitted me."

Classic Connection - Jill Cook

NRHA Non Pro and veterinarian Jill Cook has a foot in many different worlds, from reining to quarter horse racing to equine reproduction. Most recently, she was on a safari in Kenya and Tanzania with her daughter.

She was planning to make her first trip to the NRBC with her trainer, Steve Schwartzberger, and entered before she left for her African excursion, but returned home to the news that the Schwartzbergers wouldn't be able to make it.

"I was so disappointed," Cook recalled, "So I said, 'Well, I'm going to go anyway.' So here I am... I feel like people rise to the level of competition, so you have to stretch your limits a little bit in order to get better."

You'll find Cook here by herself with just her horses and her dog—but she's not totally alone. Tulsa Expo Facility Manager Brandi Herndon is her stepdaughter. Plus, the NRBC community can always be counted on to look after newcomers.

"I just think it's fun how welcoming people are," she said. "It's amazing how much you can learn just by listening and watching and absorbing stuff."

While it might be ideal for her trainer to be here with her, Cook recognizes that there's something to be gained from going it alone.

"I'm meeting a lot of people," she explained. "It kind of takes me out of my bubble. And, you know, you're not just with your trainer's group. It's nice to have your trainer there kind of giving you suggestions for issues, but it is what it is, and I'm glad I'm here."

Cook has two horses here with her. Her mount in the Non Pro Classic is seven-year-old Dreamn N Hollywood, by Magnum Chic Dream out of Dun It Queen, called "Puff."

"I guess they had a nickname, 'Dragon,'" Cook said, referring to Puff's original owners. But they decided he was not a dragon, so he got the name Puff the Magic Dragon."

Her horse for the ancillary classes is five-year-old Pumpkinn Spice, aka "Spice," by Walla Walla Whiz out of Dainty Dunit.

Despite what the mare's name suggests, Cook said she isn't 'spicy.'

"She's very quiet, very sweet... I did get a [Spooks Gotta Whiz] embryo out of her this year. So I'm excited about that."

Cook, a veterinarian who specializes in equine reproduction, believes embryo transfer helps increase mare power in the performance horse industry.

"You can get an embryo out of a mare that hasn't even stopped performing yet, which is good," Cook noted. "You don't want to retire a mare at five so that you can breed her, but here you can do both. The quality of horses has gotten so much better because of that."

As for her time here at the NRBC, she has no regrets about her decision to come alone, commenting, "Even if I weren't showing, I would love to come here and just ride in all the arenas and watch and enjoy the experience."

Classic Connection Reining Uno

Developed by young reiners, Will Davidson, Adrianna Davidson, Etta Piper, and Millie Piper, the brand new game 'Reining Uno' takes the basic game of Uno and adds a western performance horse flair.

"What makes it 'Reiner Uno' is the special cards we use on the reverse/return play. That part kind of confused us, so we decided to repurpose them," said Adrianna. "We wrote over them and used the customized cards too to add to the game."

The changes to the gameplay are as follows:

- Derby Horse card: get rid of 4 or 5 cards in your hand
- Patriot card: get rid of all red and blue cards in your hand
- SG Frozen Enterprize card: everyone gives the cardholder their blue twos
- Wimpys Little Step card: put all your yellow cards in the discard pile
- Mr Farenheit card: everyone gives the next person in line all of their ones and twos
- Lost Your Stirrup card: get your stirrup back when everyone gives you their best card
- Stain On Your Horse card: all green cards in the discard pile
- Smart Spook card: cardholder gets rid of three cards, everyone else draws three
- Girth Fell Out card: the person next in line loses their turn three times

"We didn't like to use the reverse cards, but we do like reining so we just switched them," explained Etta.

If you're interested in learning to play 'Reining Uno' stop by the Nathan Piper Reining Horses stalls at the NRBC show and ask for any of the four creators of the game.

Feeling Competitive? Sign Up for Cornhole!

Feeling competitive? Make sure you and a friend enter the NRBC Nutrena Cornhole Tournament, which will be Sunday in the grassy area outside Central Park.

The entry fee is just $10/person, with half going into the pot and half going to Rein in Cancer. Wait - there's more! The winning team will get to take home the cornhole boards as the grand prize!

The rules and sign up sheets are posted by the Boards in the Ford Exhibit Hall.
