Ancillary Champions Crowned

Prime Time Rookie High Point & Level 2 High Point Champion - Valerie Sturgeon & Whizkeys Shining Gun

This is not the first time Valerie Sturgeon and Whizkeys Shining Gun have been in the winner's circle this NRBC.

On Sunday, they won the Prime Time Rookie & Rookie Level 1 Championship in the Super Duty Arena, and while the arena may have changed to Central Park Hall for this win, the pair's success this week remains consistent no matter the scenery change.

With a score of 71.5, Sturgeon and Whizkeys Shining Gun snuck their way into the Prime Time Rookie High Point and Level 2 High Point Championship title. They also will be advancing to the Yellowstone Rookie Shootout on Thursday in the Ford Truck Arena.

The 8-year-old gelding is by Guns R For Shootin and out of Whizkeynrhinestones. He is bred by Rhodes River Ranch and owned by Caleb Sturgeon.

"We've owned him for five years now. He's very special. He kind of has some unique personality also. He kind of wants to be in your pocket. And he is not the best behaved horse sometimes on the ground, but once you're on his back, he is a perfect gentleman," Sturgeon said.

While he may be a tick naughty on the ground—like many winners are—he is nothing if not dependable in the show pen – and he has the acquired titles this week to prove it.

Rookie Level 1 & High Point Champion – Lexi Laster & KR Dually Dun Gun

Although the level may have changed in Slate 2, Lexi Laster and KR Dually Dun Gun are defending their right to a Rookie title. On Sunday, they won the Rookie Level 2 Championship, and today in Central Park Hall Arena, they came back to score a 71.5 to win the Rookie Level 1 and High Point Championship. Laster and KR Dually Dun Gun will also be advancing to the Yellowstone Rookie Shootout.

“He just tries his hardest out in the show pen every time,” Laster said of the 12-year-old gelding by Mister Nicadual and out of Gunner Git Ya Dun. KR Dually Dun Gun is bred by Pete L. Kyle and owned by Laster.

When asked about her 2025 NRBC experience, Laster said, “This NRBC is so much fun because we came about two years ago, and we just haven’t been able to come back since.” The opportunity to return back to Tulsa for the first time in a long time alone makes for a special week, but a Yellowstone Rookie Shootout qualification, Rookie Level 2 Championship, and Rookie Level 1 and High Point Championship certainly adds to that experience.

Prime Time Rookie Champion - Susan Fiely & Cash Made Easy

Susan Fiely and Cash Made Easy didn’t have any trouble swooping in to snag the Slate 2 Prime Time Rookie Championship. With a score of 72.5, they also will be advancing to Thursday’s Yellowstone Rookie Shootout held in the Ford Truck Arena.

Cash Made Easy is by Lil Joe Cash and out of Easy Lil Lady. The 10-year-old gelding is bred by Darling 888 Ranch and owned by Fiely. “I’ve had him for about two years now, and he is just full of personality... Which is what we love. He unties all the knots in the barn, he dumps his water bucket – all that,” Fiely said.

Cash Made Easy isn’t all play, as the team put together a very respectable run in the Central Park Hall Arena.

“We had a great go. This was honestly probably a personal best for us.” Fiely and Cash Made Easy are looking to turn in another solid run in the Shootout and maybe even top that new personal best.

Valerie Sturgeon

In October, Valerie Sturgeon was barely conscious in the wreckage of a smoking, totaled car. Soix months later, at this very NRBC, Sturgeon is back competing – just with a little extra hardware besides the metal of her belt buckle.

After a severe car crash left Sturgeon with seven broken ribs, a fractured sternum in two places, breaks in her L4 and L5 vertebrae, and a broken wrist now harboring a plate and seven screws, the 2025 NRBC was not particularly in the cards.

“It happened on October 8th. I was on my way to work. Somebody ran a stop sign and T-boned me going about 50 miles an hour. I never saw her, she never braked. I was in the hospital for seven days,” Sturgeon said.

Following her hospital stay, Sturgeon’s mobility was vastly limited. She slept in a recliner for six weeks and was off work for over five months.

“Thank God my husband works from home because he was able to be there – I couldn’t get up and down. It was frustrating because I’m a very independent person, and I couldn’t do anything. I couldn’t write, I couldn’t cook... I just recently went back to work in March.”

Since then, Sturgeon has been on a horse just a handful of times.

“The first time I got on a horse was in Florida in February. I went to the Florida Classic, and they took my horse because my son was showing his there. I rode almost every day and just increased by each day – getting my body back to see what my body would even do.”

While Sturgeon’s recovery process on the back of a horse hasn’t been a particularly rushed one, her first show back was just two weeks ago in Tampa. And despite limited time in the saddle leading up to the NRBC, Sturgeon clinched the Prime Time Rookie and Rookie Level 1 Championship on Sunday with a score of 73.

“I’m pretty competitive, so I wanted to go out there and try to do my best, just like everybody else. And that was a big score for me. I think the biggest I’ve had was maybe a 71.5 or 72, but to have a 73, it was like, ‘Wow,’ Sturgeon said.

Sturgeon said the remaining swelling left over from the trauma of the injury will take a year to completely subside, but being in the arena may just be the best medicine at this point in her recovery.

“One of my co-workers couldn’t believe I was back doing this. And I’m like, ‘Actually, this is easier than being at my job sometimes,’” Sturgeon said, laughing.

Although Sturgeon may already have some hardware floating around in her wrist, that may be the very thing to give her the edge to win a different type of hardware at this year’s NRBC.

Julie Boer

The amount of talent walking the grounds at the NRBC is a number that couldn't be measured, even with the draw sheets. With over millions and millions of dollars worth of horse flesh in Tulsa this week, standout performers and their riders can be found on every corner. Julie Boer and Out Of The Furnace are a duo taking up space in one of these corners.

Although declared as a Non Pro, Boer's lifetime reining earnings are quickly approaching $200,000. Out Of The Furnace, owned by Boer and bred by Joe Hayes, is also climbing the ranks, sitting at $58,998. However, the 7-year-old gelding by Inferno Sixty Six and out of Shinaka had a recent hurdle to overcome in his career.

"He's kind of a special guy. He had colic surgery on January 4th. This is his first time back, and he showed me he still wants to play with the big boys," Boer said.

Although the surgery was minor and there were no complications, it was still a slight setback. The pair's first time back in the arena was the Prime Time Non Pro class on Sunday, where they three-way tied for second with a 71 score.

"It means the world to me to get to ride him. I mean, we're just starting him back. The Derby hopefully is gonna be our first real big, big show. So this is kind of the beginning, but he's come so quickly and he's been super strong."

Leading up to January, Out Of The Furnace and Boer were gaining fast momentum, scoring some impressive wins. Most notably, in October, they won the Level 3 Intermediate Non Pro-Aged Event, Prime Time Non Pro-Aged Event, and placed fourth in the Level 4 Non Pro-Aged Event at the AZRHA Best of the West Derby.

Since Boer rides with Baruch Reining Horses, Yonathan Baruch has also developed a personal tie to Out Of The Furnace. Boer and Baruch are both careful not to put too much pressure on the gelding in his return to the arena. "We just don't want to jinx anything. This team has been a very significant team here for the last two years. They've done tremendously well, and that's why we're reserved because we just want to see them come back," Baruch said.

From the beginning, Out Of The Furnace just had that "it" factor. "He's super athletic, great minded—as in able to focus—but he plays a lot. He's goofy on the ground. He's got a big personality, big heart. But when you go out in the show pen, he's like, 'Let's do this for me,' you know. He wants to really go show. He doesn't want to cause any problems. He wants to be good," Boer said.

While it's not uncommon to sell horses once they're past the age of six and deemed "open horses," Boer and Baruch had a feeling it would be best to keep him in their program.

"It was exciting to show him. We kept him so we can bring him over here and show him in all the major events this year... And then we got a setback to where we didn't get to show over here, but in the meantime, we found another one that kind of put us to work and we're building on. And now at the Derby, instead of one bullet, she's gonna have two strong bullets," Baruch said.

Regarding the bullet known as Out Of The Furnace and his return, Boer said, "We're just happy he's here and how good he's coming back."

Rookie Level 2 Champion –

Minki Venter & Bigshot In The Dark

South African native Minki Venter is making the most of her first NRBC appearance, taking home the Rookie Level 2 Championship and scoring a ticket to the Yellowstone Rookie Shootout aboard Bigshot In The Dark.

Bigshot In The Dark is by Wimpys High Bid and out of Surpriseinadark-alley. The seven-year-old gelding is bred and owned by Story Book Stables and is who Venter credits for helping expand her horizons in the reining arena.

“There’s not a lot of room for improvement in South Africa. (We’re) kind of stuck with what we have. And right now, I think me and my horse, we can’t improve further in South Africa. So we decided that the next best thing is to get a horse here,” Venter said.

While Venter acquired Slate 2’s Rookie Level 2 Championship with a score of 73, she had to overcome some nerves lingering from Slate 1.

“The first run for the Rookie didn’t go as planned. It was my first run in America. It was my first class with him, and I was very nervous. If I wasn’t so nervous, he would have done better. But then my second run, I kind of relaxed, and I just rode him like I rode him in the warm up.”

While Venter may still be finding her footing in this unfamiliar territory, earning the Rookie Level 2 Championship—along with a spot in the Yellowstone Rookie Shootout—has been a big confidence boost for the South African rider on an American horse.

Venter thanks Tamryn Thorp, Patrick Flaherty, and Arno Honstetter for helping make the opportunity to own a horse overseas possible.
