Elena Hurd & Magnum Style

Non Pro - Classic Challenge, Intermediate Non Pro, Level 3 Intermediate Non Pro, and Level 2 Limited Non Pro - Classic Challenge Champion

Elena Hurd and Magnum Style decided they should go ahead and take the win for all of their entered classes in the Ford Truck Arena, totaling 5 championships and over $13,819 in earnings.

With a score of a 216.5, the duo won the $5K Non Pro, Intermediate Non Pro, Level 4 Non Pro - Classic Challenge, Level 3 Intermediate Non Pro, and Level 2 Limited Non Pro - Classic Challenge Championship.

"I got him at the end of his four year old year, and now he's 12, so we've had him for quite a while. Now that he's 12, we just come out and do the big events like the Challenge here, so he gets shown once or twice a year, but he still loves his job," Hurd said.

Bred by Kathy Hinton, the gelding is by Magnum Chic Dream and out of Easy Whiz My Money. Magnum Style is owned by the Hurds.

"(I thank) my parents definitely for making this all possible. I mean, without them, I just wouldn't have the horses I have today or Ditto (Magnum Style). And then Josh (Tishman), who's been coaching me on Ditto."

While Hurd has unwavering faith in the seasoned gelding, racking up five wins wasn't necessarily expected.

"We won Levels 1-4 here two years ago. Last year was not our year, but I've always known it's in him, and he could do it... It's usually a matter of if I can," Hurd said.

The possibility of the team winning several levels once more is now out of the question, and it was proved at this year's 2025 NRBC.

Level 1 Non Pro Classic Challenge Champion - Wyatt Deary & Chicsdundreamin

Wyatt Deary and Chicsdundreamin sneak into the standings to secure the Level 1 Non Pro Classic Challenge Championship.

Chicsdundreamin is by Magnum Chic Dream and out of Goody Goody Dun Drop. The 18-year-old gelding is bred by Lisa Maberry and owned by Nancy Stillwell. While he may be 18, Chicsdundreamin has no plans to slow down.

“He’s been in our family for 10 years. A sweet lady named Miss Betty went and bought him when he was 8 after he’d been retired, and he’s been at the barn ever since, and we all love him,” Deary said.

Deary and Chicsdundreamin marked a 215 to win $635. “It was great. At 18, sometimes they get seasoned. They don’t want to go in the pen, but I asked him, and he ran straight in good for me. He knows his job, and he works hard at it every single time, and I reward him when he does good.”

Deary thanks all members of his family—including Chicsdundreamin—for the opportunity to do what he loves.

Prime Time Non Pro Classic Challenge Champion - Dana Wetherell & Spat Toy Boy Gun

Scoring a 217 and winning $864, Dana Wetherell and Spat Toy Boy Gun are adding the title of a Prime Time Non Pro - Classic Challenge Championship to their resume.

The 9-year-old paint stallion from Italy is by Spat Split And White and out of Snowy River Gunner. Spat Toy Boy Gun is bred by Chiara Pelosi and owned by Dana Wetherell.

“We started standing him to the public last year, so his first babies have been born this spring,” Wetherell said.

Spat Toy Boy Gun is no stranger to the NRBC and the Ford Truck Arena, already ready having won here in the past.

“Last year, Trevor Dare, my trainer and I, we shared him in all the eight and over classes, and Trevor actually won the Classic Challenge here last year on him. So it’s exciting to come back this year and get a championship in a Non Pro on him. That’s a testament to his mind and talent.”

Wetherell thanks Trevor Dare, the Dare barn at large, and her husband for the day in and day out support, as well as Tom McCutcheon for both standing Spat Toy Boy Gun and encouraging Wetherell to maintain a show schedule on the stellar stud – and marking the NRBC on the calendar certainly seemed to reap the rewards.

Youth 13 & Under Champion Dylan Baker & Rambowhizz

Dylan Baker and Rambowhizz locked in the Youth 13 & Under Championship in the Super Duty Arena.

The 9-year-old gelding is by Spooks Gotta Whiz and out of Rose Electric Step and bred by Houde & Tremblay Partnership. Rambowhizz is owned by Baker's grandmother, Anita Horn.

While it may be only her second trip to Tulsa, the NRBC is a show Baker now looks forward to.

"The people that run it are always so nice and always very kind to you. It's really fun," Baker said.

With the score of a 72, it seemed Baker did in fact have a lot of fun chasing that Youth 13 & Under Championship.

Baker wanted to specifically thank her trainer, Trevor Dare, as well as Angela Dare, for always being so encouraging. She also thanks her school for being supportive of her reining endeavors, and of course her grandmother, for letting her take Rambowhizz out for a spin.

10 & Under Short Stirrup Champion - Raquel Maurer & Notskippinthebigtime

At the Short Stirrup's very first NRBC, Raquel Maurer and Notskippinthebigtime earn the 10 and Under Short Stirrup Slate 1 Championship, scoring a 72.

Notskippinthebigtime is by Shine Big Time and out of Skippin Whiz. The 6-year-old gelding is bred by Tami L Nelson and owned by Maurer.

"I ran down there, and he was really with me. In my rollback, he was completely straight and just really put together with me," Maurer said.

For her first NRBC, Maurer said she was proud of how well they've fared. "This is my first time ever coming. And it was big... to win first place. I love how big it is and how new it is to me since I'm so used to all the small horse shows."

While she's confident now, Maurer hasn't always been, and she thanks her trainer for helping her overcome that. "When I first started riding, I wouldn't want to let go of the horn. And now I'm pretty much just running down full speed to my stops," Maurer said. Maurer rode fearlessly at the NRBC and did so in a manner that deemed her a Short Stirrup Champion.

Co-Youth 14-18 & Unrestricted Youth Champion - Minki Venter & Bigshot In The Dark

Minki Venter is still making the most of her first American reining show, as she split the win for the Youth 14-18 and Unrestricted Youth Championship aboard Bigshot In The Dark.

"I'm feeling amazing. I really am. I'm overly excited, I'm overly proud," Venter said following her run.

Scoring a 73, the pair are getting more and more confident each time they step in the pen.

"Today was much better than my first run earlier this week. We had a lot of fun. I tried to ride exactly as I did in my other pattern because it was kind of patterns reversed. So I focused on doing exactly the same thing as I did before."

Bigshot In The Dark is by Wimpys High Bid and out of Surpriseinadarkalley. The seven-year-old gelding is bred and owned by Story Book Stables.

Next in her line of sight is the Run For A Million, and Venter and Bigshot In The Dark are feeling prepared after the success at their debut 2025 NRBC.

"It was a bucket list item, and it's done. We're going to Vegas," Venter said with a smile.

Co-Youth 14-18 & Unrestricted Youth Champion - Emma Hillis & Pale Face Blazin

Snagging the other half of the Youth 14-18 and Unrestricted Youth Championship in the Super Duty Arena is Emma Hillis and Pale Face Blazin.

"I just cruised through, and I tried to just go for a 70 and get qualified, and it turned out to be better than that," Hillis said.

While she may have initially planned on just schooling the 6-year-old mare, Pale Face Blazin had other ideas and marked a 73. Bred by Hickory Creek Ranch and owned by Hillis Ranch Reiners, she is by Pale Face Dunit and out of Blazing In Black.

"She's very trustworthy, and I think she likes to turn and circle, too, so she is really good at it... She can be a little stubborn sometimes, but that's really fitting for me because I'm kind of the same way."

Being stubborn isn't always a negative thing, especially if it means splitting a Youth 14-18 & Unrestricted Youth Championship.

The gritty pair clearly get it done in the arena, and Hillis thanks her parents and trainers for keeping them sharp.

Classic Connection - Christine Trautman

When not in the bright lights of a reining arena, Christine Trautman can be found working as a physician beneath the bright lights of a doctor's office.

Born and raised in Wisconsin, Trautman went to college and medical school in the midwest, where she still currently resides as an obstetrician gynecologist. While going to school at the University of Wisconsin River Falls launched her professional career, it also deepened her love for the reining industry, as she got to learn and ride from Larry Kasten, a very accomplished reining horse trainer.

"Horses have always been my place to breathe – always, forever. I have been so fortunate to have amazing people in my life that have allowed me to keep my horses through all of those stages of education and during intense years of work... Really, really great friends and mentors who always helped me along the way to make sure that I could keep horses in my life," Trautman said.

While Trautman missed the Derby Finals at this year's NRBC, she is sticking around to support her son, who is 10 and competing in the youth classes on Trautman's former show horse. While balancing such an intensive career and passion is challenging, it's also rewarding.

"Most things that are worthwhile are quite challenging. And I'm always grateful for the education that I have when it comes to being able to provide service, not just to my community, but to my friends and everybody around me. I feel like that's really what life's about – finding a way we can provide a service, and I'm grateful that I can."

On the professional side, Trautman strives to provide a service through her mission of ensuring health care is available to women no matter where they're located on the map.

"I've become very passionate about working to maintain access for women's health care in rural places. It has become a very interesting topic nationally and internationally to maintain access to care in rural places and particularly for women's health. And so that's been a really fun, interesting, new adventure," Trautman said.

While Trautman's impressive ambitions here at the NRBC and in the office couldn't be tackled without a dedicated work ethic, she said her success isn't a solo act.

"I want to thank the Tremblay (Performance Horses) team and Diamond Dub (Quarter Horses) and all of our coaches... (As well as) Jeff and Larry Kasten and the Smith Ranch, and my son. I also want to thank the NRBC and the NRHA and everybody involved because this is a well-oiled machine... It's always a marvel, and I'm grateful to be here."

If you have won money or prizes during the show, please stop at the show office to pick them up before leaving Tulsa

Linda Sawyer & Spooksgottaprettyboy Blo Gun

Blo Gun/Spooks Grand Slam Masters Shootout & Fappani Performance Horses/Spooks N Jewels Legends Shootout Champion

As a team who knows their way around a reining pattern, Linda Sawyer and Spooksgottaprettyboy are the Blow Gun and Spooks Grand Slam Masters and Spooks & Jewels Legends Shootout Champions.

Spooksgottaprettyboy is a 15-year-old gelding by Spooks Gotta Gun and out of Prettywhizprettydoes. He is bred by Haverty Ranch and owned by Sawyer.

On Monday, Sawyer and Spooksgottaprettyboy clinched the Legends Non Pro and High Point Championship in the Super Duty Arena with a score of 71.5, but they figured they should pick up a couple more titles before leaving Tulsa.

In the Shootout, the duo scored a 207 to capture the win.

“Our circles were good – he was really good with circles. We kind of hit the center lead changes right on base where they needed to be. The right spin was really good. We’re making some adjustments, and so we’re just going through some changes, but we’re getting there.”

While the ultimate destination may still be on the horizon for the pair, picking up a Masters & Legends Shootout Championship along the way sure is helpful.

Silent Auction Benefitting Rein in Cancer Ends Saturday

The Silent Auction, benefitting Rein in Cancer, closes at 2 p.m. Saturday. There is a large variety of items available for bidding! Check out the variety of items and make your bid outside the Horse Show Office in the Exhibit Hall.

Jordan Wright Du Plessis & Alpha Taris Chic

Yellowstone Rookie Shootout Champion

All the way from South Africa, Jordan Wright Du Plessis aboard Alpha Taris Chic were the first to be crowned of the slated Shootouts, earning the Yellowstone Rookie Shootout Finals Championship title.

Alpha Taris Chic is by Wimpy Chic and out of Taris Attraction. The 7-year-old gelding is bred by Alpha Quarter Horses and owned by Jordan Wright Du Plessis.

"I've been riding him for about three years now, and he's just really fun. He's a lot of horse. He always says yes, and he's got a really funny personality. He's so quirky, and I love him so much," Plessis said.

Scoring a 214.5, Du Plessis was thrilled with her and the gelding's run considering what vast improvements the duo made from their start in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

"My run was really good... I rode him in the derby when the show started, and he was really good, I just didn't ride him very good... I went in today wanting to break that, and it was really fun. I had a lot of fun showing him."

With such a breakthrough run and win, Du Plessis feels grateful for her parents and close friends who made success abroad this week at the NRBC possible.

Classic Connection - Grace Tachikawa

Winning the Limited Non Pro on Sunday isn't the first time Grace Tachikawa has ever been crowned a title, as Tachikawa has had an actual crown placed on her head. In 2018, Tachikawa won the 2018 Ohio Quarter Horse Queen title – and that title has lent her a hand in more ways than one, even 7 years later.

"It was something I always thought I wanted to do. It came up because one of the older members of Ohio Quarter Horse was like, 'I think you should run this year.' Essentially, it's meeting people, talking to people, being at the shows to present awards, being a spokesperson – a face for the breed and for your state," Tachikawa said.

While it wasn't super high on her list of priorities at the time, pursuing the experience of being an Ohio Quarter Horse Queen is one Tachikawa quickly became grateful for.

"It was awesome to be able to represent the breed and then my home state. You had to do the horsemanship class to compete and an interview and the written test just on the rule book, but it was just good being a role model for other little girls to look up to and being an ambassador of the breed."

Interacting with the judges who deem what awards Tachikawa would be handing out is insight she still carries now into the reining pen.

"You get to meet a lot of the stewards and judges and get to see the other side of things. Before that, I did some scribing and stewarding and was on the Ohio Quarter Horse youth judging team, and I think everyone should do something like that. You go in the arena, and you think you know what the judges want or what's expected, but it's totally different on the other side."

Tachikawa started out in 4-H, which is where she caught the open show Quarter Horse bug. While she didn't know anything about reining at the time, she showed all-around AQHA events until she could afford to buy her own horse as an ammuter.

"In high school and college, I rode on IEA and IHSA teams, and that's when I realized I loved the reining. So I sold my all-rounder and bought a reiner, and I just like the challenge of it. It's just so different and so much harder, but that's what makes it fun," Tachikawa said.

Her NRBC Limited Non Pro win aboard 9-year-old mare Maggie Magnum, bred by Casey Hinton and owned by Tyler Williams, who is by Magnum Chic Dream and out of Skeets Red Dunit, was Tachikawa's first Non Pro title.

"I've done well in the Novice Horse, and before that, it was Green and Rookie, but this is my first Non Pro win. It also was my first reining trophy. I've had a lot of plaques over the years, but it's my first trophy."

Whether it's because of her success in the reining pen today or the crown that took residence on her head back in Ohio, Tachikawa strives to be a role model for the youth.

"I can think of two little girls that I know have looked up to me, and that just makes me feel whole. It's full circle, and that's my way of giving back because I remember being that little girl, wanting to be like her one day."

April Gentry & Alpha Onespecialnite

Rios of Mercedes Family of Brands Green Shootout

Pulling out all the stops, April Gentry and Alpha Onespecialnite are crowned the Rios Family of Brands Green Reiner Shootout Champions.

Gentry and Alpha Onespecialnite scored a 215 to earn the title. The 8-year-old gelding is by Gunners Special Nite and out of One Last Corona. He is bred by Tom McCutcheon and owned by Gentry.

"I'm so excited. I was really excited to go into that pen. He's a great horse... I just need to stay out of his way and let him do what he needs to do," Gentry said.

While the pair is still a fairly new team, they are racking in early success.

"I bought him in December, and this is our first real show together. So it's just a fun experience and to have a good night was really special."

Gentry has truly had an astounding first NRBC, and she's quick to credit the hard-working team behind her who help make her dreams possible.

"Cole has spent a lot of hours just helping me day in and day out at home. I ride a lot, and so he sees my face and sees what I'm working on and really encourages me to keep pushing myself... I just really appreciate the whole team at Kole Price's. It takes a team to really make it happen."

Intermediate Open, Limited Open, & High Point Champion - Naïke Bell & Boujee

Naïke Bell and Boujee continue to cash in checks and buckles at the 2025 NRBC, this time winning the Intermediate Open and Limited Open Championship, as well as the High Point Championship for the two respective wins.

Boujee is by Magnum Chic Dream and out of Chexanicki. The 8-year-old mare is bred by Alpha Quarter Horses and owned by Thorsport.

"She's been very, very consistent this show, and she's just so perfect," Bell said.

Bell and Boujee slid into a 73.5 score at Central Park Hall Arena, winning $569.

"I let her down a little bit in my turn – I got a turn penalty. I shut her off a little too early, so that was my fault," Bell said.

Although the run may not have been completely flawless, it still earned them three titles – reflecting an accomplished NRBC week for Bell, her husband, and owner of Boujee.

Markel NRBC Commitment Award & Open Draw Party

For well over a decade, Markel Insurance has sponsored the Non Pro Draw Party at the NRBC. In 2025, that support expanded to include the Open Draw Party as well.

The Draw Parties are always a highlight of the week, and the Open edition also features the Calcutta, a popular fundraiser with a portion of the proceeds benefiting Rein in Cancer.

While the Finals Draw was the marquee event, the evening began on a more reflective note. Since 2016, Markel has recognized outstanding individuals in the reining industry with a special award presentation.

“A panel selects someone who is always willing to lend a hand, offer encouragement, and help others feel valued,” said Cheryl Cody, NRBC Secretary/Treasurer. “This is the kind of person who makes the NRBC, and the reining world, a better place.”

Frank Costantini, Markel’s Director of Western Disciplines, introduced the 2025 honoree: Ed Cridge. A respected trainer and judge, Cridge judged his first NRHA event in 1971 and has shown many top reining horses, including Hollywood Jack 86 and Smart Like Juice. He and Miss Coco Wimp were even immortalized on the first bronze NRHA trophies ever awarded.

Cridge’s career has spanned decades, thanks to his knowledge and approachability. As the industry has changed, he has continued to contribute and embody the very qualities this award was created to honor.

Classic Connection - The Timmerman Family

For a family like the Timmermans, the NRBC is an all-hands-on-deck experience. Wendy and Jason Timmerman have grown accustomed to spending their weekends at reining and 4-H shows – and with four kids in tow, these weekends are often spent tracking down missing boots and chaps before hoisting a kid up on a horse and hurrying them into the next class.

These types of show weekends are just about all Presley, age 14, Katherine, age 12, Charli, age 10, and Leo, age 7, have ever known, and as a result, it's brought them closer together. Especially with all three girls consistently competing.

"I like the competition. It's a sibling competition – who's getting the best scores. I like it now that we're all in different age groups because now I'm in 14 to 18, Kate has 13 and under to herself, and Charli's 10," Presley said.

Competing mostly in the Rocky Mountain Reining Horse Association and recently in the Southwest Reining Horse Association, between the three girls, the Timmerman's names are being called in classes ranging from Youth, Green Reiner, Rookie, and Leadline when taking Leo into account.

"We love for them that it's always challenging. Like there's success, but it's always hard. When they go in and run the patterns, there's always learning and always growing... You get to spend time together doing it, and it's never the same twice," Wendy said.

The Timmermans said the NRBC is a show they love to come to because the schedule is especially family-friendly. While the show may be longer, the scattered schedule allows the family some time to relax in between the several classes they're entered in. At the 2025 NRBC, the Timmerman's brought six horses to show, and while juggling care for ten beings beyond themselves might sound chaotic, it's a weekend well spent for the entire Timmerman crew. "As a parent, we're super thankful that there's something that they all love doing that puts us all in the same place so that we can cheer each other on, encourage each other, help each other – because that's not the case with all activities. And so far, everyone seems to love it," Wendy said.
